MISSIONARY UPDATE

Dario & Talitha Chiesa

09/20/24

CMC-Texas

"Tomorrow we celebrate Ganesh's birthday with a great festival. All of India does: north and south. I need to get home and start cooking for our god!" Madhu said excitedly. This caused Talitha to ask a series of questions; some very much on purpose, not just out of curiosity. Questions like: how do you give him the food? where do you place it? do you have to throw it out after a few days? Very interesting answers and some of them even caused Madhu to giggle out of embarrassment that they actually do such things in their rituals. Things such as "build their own god and then pray to it"; she explained how the people from India have many gods and have to put together each god, yearly, with certain materials and then cook food for them on certain holidays and keep them in different parts of the house. Then they take the food away from the god and sit down and eat it themselves. I met Madhu in January and over time, she has shared multiple traditions that she has for different gods and what each one represents. Madhu has a 14 year old son who suddenly presented with many heart problems this summer (she believes it may be from vaccination injury: as he has had 4 covid shots and was a completely healthy athlete before this). This past month she has cried a lot when she talks about the subject. The doctors (at a top Houston cardiology hospital) were not finding a solution and his heart rate has been ranging between 140-200 since June; it's now ranging between 90-100 with a change in medicine. She knows we are Christians and even though we don't worship the same God she begged saying, "Your husband is a Pastor, please ask him to pray to your god for my son!!"

PRAYER REQUESTS:

- More opportunities of conversation with Madhu and for her salvation
- Madhu's son, Vivan, which means "full of life".
- Raul from Guatemala; he visited our church for the first time this past Sunday and said he'd be back!
- Salvation of our neighbor, Jhon (Colombian), who comes almost every Sunday listens intently and even thanks Dario for sharing "the Word" but has not made a profession of faith yet. Pray that he will agree to a one on one Bible study.
- Dario as he fractured a finger while working outside. Pray it heals well especially because he is our pianist and guitarist.
